

Northeastern Technical College's Division of Continuing Education Presents:

2009 Infection Control Update

October 16, 2009
8:00 am – 4:30 pm
MPH Senior Circle
212 East Main Street
Bennettsville, SC Cheraw, SC
Cost: $50.00

Consumer interest in healthcare outcomes, reduction of third party reimbursement and requirements for public reporting of infections following medical treatment mandates facilities develop a transparency that allows the consumer to compare and contrast service and outcomes. In addition, fear of and the potential for pandemic influenza has emphasized the need for infection prevention programs to apply public health procedures to reduce influenza transmission.

This program will describe elements of an effective infection prevention and control program, the various populations affected by the program, and the risk of H1N1 influenza infection and recommended prevention strategies.

This program is intended for nurses, acute care managers and staff, and any interested healthcare providers. 6.0 AHEC Clock Hours or 6 Nursing Contact Hours are offered for credit.
